

Orange Juice & Milk

(written by Sophie Bokor-ingram, Jonathan Fox, Thomas Howard Loffman)

I love how you're just so clever
I love how you're place yourself
In the centre
I love when I cry you are like yeah whatever
I love how you never Ever read the room no never
I love how you have no self-awareness
When you're so aware of yourself
All you think about is you
And never us together
I love how you measure
When I make an error
I love how you're so insensitive and
I just love how you're so argumentative
And I love how you're so negative
It's so nice how you hate my relatives

I just love it when you tell me to calm down
Because it always works
I just love it when you tell me to calm down
It never makes it worse
And you're just so clever
And you're just so so clever yeah
I just love it when you tell me to calm down
That's how I know we go together
Like orange juice and milk

Look you know I just love it
When you act like you're so above it
And when you roll your eyes
It's just so divine
You know that I can't get enough of it
Look its weird you had no luck
Asking why am I winding myself up
Such a sensitive question
And if there's a lesson it's that
It makes me love you so much
Why you so worked up
Why can't you simmer down
Why can't you ease up
Boy give it to me now
Your lack of empathy gives me serenity
I just love each calm down you're telling me

I just love it when you tell me to calm down
Because it always works
I just love it when you tell me to calm down
It never makes it worse
And you're just so clever
And you're just so so clever yeah
I just love it when you tell me to calm down
That's how I know we go together
Like orange juice and milk
